

PM Quarterly Review Intelligence Report

Project: LIM

Quarter: Q2 2026

Date: June 24, 2026

Prepared by: PM + Tech Lead

Analyzed by: AI Agent

Submissions Overview

Executive Summary
Product Manager	Tech Lead
things went smooth. delivers on time	not so good, it could be better if less bugs, not all items delivered on time

Overall Status
Product Manager: GREEN	Tech Lead: AMBER

Key Achievements & Value Delivered
Product Manager	Tech Lead
Updating planning module with new library, Fixed multiple bugs	new library updated

Risks, Issues & Challenges
Product Manager	Tech Lead
Client side procurement issue	requerements were not clear, led to deliver delay on some tasks

Quality & Team Health
Product Manager	Tech Lead
so far good	it was fine

Customer Satisfaction
Product Manager	Tech Lead
8/10	7/10

AI Agent Analysis

Generated by analyzing both PM and Tech Lead perspectives

Lessons Learned

PM had less visibility into executive summary than the other side.

One answer was substantially more detailed than the other on this question.

Action: Encourage PM to dig deeper into executive summary next quarter.

PM and Tech Lead need a shared definition of 'Overall Status'.

PM said: "Green" while Tech Lead said: "Amber" — the contradiction suggests misaligned visibility.

Action: Hold a short alignment conversation on overall status before next quarter starts.

Continue strengthening shared visibility between PM and Tech Lead.

Overall, this quarter's answers were broadly consistent in tone and substance.

Action: Maintain regular sync points between PM and Tech Lead.

Next Quarter Focus

Focus Area	Expected Outcome	Owner
Close the visibility gap on executive summary	PM can speak to this topic with the same depth as the other side.	PM
Resolve misalignment on overall status	PM and Tech Lead share one consistent view going into next quarter.	Both
Keep combining both views on key achievements & value delivered	The richer, combined picture continues informing decisions.	Both
Keep combining both views on risks, issues & challenges	The richer, combined picture continues informing decisions.	Both
Keep combining both views on quality & team health	The richer, combined picture continues informing decisions.	Both

Management Attention Required

HIGH URGENCY — Misalignment

Disagreement on Overall Status

PM and Tech Lead gave conflicting accounts of overall status. PM: "Green" | TL: "Amber".

Source: Disagreement

MEDIUM URGENCY — Escalation

Recurring risk themes flagged this quarter

Executive Summary: On executive summary, PM's answer was notably thinner than the other's — a possible blind spot worth surfacing.; Overall Status: PM and Tech Lead describe overall status very differently, pointing to a misalignment that needs to be reconciled.; Key Achievements & Value Delivered: PM and Tech Lead bring different but complementary angles on key achievements & value delivered, which together give a fuller picture.

Source: Both

Closing Note

This quarter for LIM closed with a disputed overall status (PM: Green, Tech Lead: Amber), drawing on independent input from both the Product Manager and the Tech Lead. Across the five review areas, 0 showed strong alignment between both perspectives, while 1 surfaced clear disagreements that need to be reconciled and 1 revealed a visibility gap between the two roles.

Taken together, the PM and Tech Lead perspectives tell a single, coherent story of where delivery, technical health, and team wellbeing stood this quarter rather than two competing narratives. Where the two sides agreed, those points should be treated as dependable signal; where they diverged, that gap itself is the most useful finding of this review.

Heading into next quarter, the priority is to close any open misalignments early, keep reinforcing what is already working, and ensure both PM and Tech Lead continue reporting with the same level of detail and visibility.